

Recognizing your Gift Intention

Making provisions in your estate plans to leave a planned gift to the Foundation can be a very personal and private decision. However, if you have made provisions for the Foundation in your will and you are comfortable letting the Foundation know accordingly, the Foundation will make note in their records of your intent as well as invite you, should you accept, to allow your intention to be publically known by being listed on the Planned Giving plaque in the Hospital foyer and also in the Foundation's annual report. To be frank, allowing your intention to be known will help others in your community realize that they too could consider making a planned gift and be an important supporter of the Hospital.
